

Director's Message

November 8 - December 20, 2009

We are now officially the state chapter for Tennessee with the American Solar Energy Society, a 50-year-young organization that has kept up the cause through all these years. To the members of the Tennessee Solar Energy Association, thank you for joining and for making the recognition of the TSEA possible.

Jim Hackworth has done a masterful job prepping ASES and getting new members, and thanks to Russ Beebe for a website that is continuing to improve as we grow. Claire Quinn, our intern, deserves praise for her work on the forthcoming brochure, for this year's solar tour and for independently moving us forward. Our legal advisors tell us that the 501c3 application will be ready this week for submission.

The next effort will be to spread out into all parts of the state of Tennessee creating chapters of TSEA. Please continue to watch the website for new information, and Jim and I will keep you informed as new events happen. So, congratulations all around. Reach out to your friends and bring those interested in solar energy for Tennessee into the fold (our membership form can be downloaded from the website)
